DEMAND APOLOGY FROM GERMANY

For Arrest of Allied Officers in Germany—Paris Expects U. S. to Join Reparations Committee.

Paris, Dec. 1.—The ambassadors' council has sent a note to Berlin requesting Germany to explain immediately the arrest of Allied army officers in Leipzig recently. It was learned today that the note further demanded that an apology be made to General Nollet, head of the old Allied control mission.

The communication calls upon the German government to take disciplinary measures to prevent any such incidents in the future and to punish the Reichswehr officers who were responsible for the arrests "under conditions fixed by the Allied control mission."

There was formerly an inter-Allied military control mission in Germany but it lapsed. Recently France demanded that Allied military control be re-established over Germany and this demand was reiterated in a note sent to Berlin by the Allied council of ambassadors. The arrests in Leipzig were made before the note was sent from Paris.

French newspapers declared today that "as the Allies are now in agreement upon reparations the United States cannot longer refuse to cooperate."

Parisian newspapers expressed the opinion there would be American representatives upon both committees that are to be appointed by the Allied reparations commission.

"Pettinax," political editor of the Echo de Paris, indicated there is still instability in the relations between Paris and London. In an editorial, he said, in part:

"The chief merit of the reparations commission's decision yesterday is that it allows time for the two cabinets to negotiate. If it is possible to save the entente."

"Pettinax" pointed out that the committees appointed by the reparations commission will work under narrower restrictions than the recently proposed international committee of reparations experts.

The United States refused to participate in the international committee because of its restricted scope, especially the limitations imposed before it could evaluate Germany's capacity for indemnity payments.

"Pettinax" added: "The task of the committees is purely theoretical. It is easy to draw up a treaty for the reform of the German Reich, financially but the real work begins when it is attempted to apply the treaty."

MUSOLINI SCHEMES FOR HIGH PLACE IN LEAGUE

With Spain and Latin-American, Dominant Council.

London, Dec. 1.—Premier Mussolini has planned a new coup, according to Rome advices, whereby he will seek the closest cooperation with South American Latin countries and Spain to give Italy a commanding position in the League of Nations.

Mussolini, it is reported, would gladly desert the league, but the South American and Spanish influences advise against such a course in favor of one which would give the Latin bloc great power in league councils by continued cooperation.

The alliance of the Latins, which is reported to take the form of an amended military entente, is said to have the support of the Vatican.

Already the entente is displaying increased activity in the Levant. In view of the recently completed Spanish-Italian diplomatic and commercial agreements, the results of the recent Moroccan conference are being most closely scrutinized here.

Though Italy was barred from this conference between England, Spain and France, her claims in the Moroccan district are understood to be strongly supported by Spain.

MILHAM'S BARRELS POPULAR FOR EXHIBITION PURPOSES

At least 150 barrels manufactured by George Milham were used by exhibitors at the Apple Exposition recently held in the Grand Central Palace, New York city.

These barrels have been made by Mr. Milham for apple growers in different parts of the country—Clintonville, Milton, Stone Ridge, Altigerville, Katrine and Poughkeepsie—also in Vermont, Massachusetts and New Jersey. They were made of white wood and were especially suitable for exhibition purposes.

Mr. Milham is now making barrels for growers who have apples in cold storage and one or two who have not yet finished picking apples. Within the past year he has made and sold 7,500 barrels.

Some apple manufacturers have increased the price of barrels almost a dollar this year on account of the increased cost of materials and labor. Mr. Milham fortunately had a great deal of lumber on hand and consequently his prices for barrels were only a little higher than last year—New Paltz Independent.

SMITH TO BACK GREENE STRONGLY

Will Try and Line Up Democratic Senators, Vote of One of Which Against Will Cause Failure of Superintendent's Confirmation.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Albany, Dec. 1.—Governor Smith does not intend to have the confirmation of Colonel Frederick Stuart Greene as state superintendent of public works blocked in the 1924 senate, if within his power to prevent it, according to report at the capitol today.

The governor, so the story goes, is planning to have a "heart to heart" talk with each Democratic senator about Colonel Greene shortly after the session gets under way.

It is virtually certain that every one of the 25 Republican senators will vote against the confirmation of Greene, and if one Democrat should vote with the Republicans it would mean defeat for the governor and the colonel.

Friends of Edward S. Walsh of Brooklyn, who resigned a few weeks ago as commissioner of canals, would like nothing better than to see Col. Greene turned down by the upper house of the legislature. Walsh is a Democrat, and always has been rated high in the councils of his party.

The appointment of Greene as superintendent of public works was made by the governor over the protests of several up-state Democratic leaders. They had nothing against the colonel personally, but they did not hesitate to tell the governor they did not think he would play the political game as they believed it ought to be played.

Since Greene took command of the public works department there have been many dismissals of both Democrats and Republicans, which, it is said, has not been pleasing to political leaders of both major parties.

With the governor determined to take a hand in the matter, it begins to look as if the senate might confirm Greene's appointment. But even the governor may not be able to stem the tide.

GARY WALKS AGAINST HIGH TAXES AND BONDS.

Tax Burden Almost Too Much Now For Continued Prosperity.

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Dec. 1.—Judge Elbert H. Gary's warning to Congress against "false generosity with the taxpayers' money" was interpreted today as support of Secretary Mellon's tax reduction plan.

Speaking last night before the Civic Forum in Town Hall, the head of the United States Steel Corporation declared for insistence on collection of the Allied indebtedness to the United States, reduction of taxation, economy in government expenditures, reduction of living costs and against the soldiers' bonus.

Taxes have become burdensome almost to a point of causing business depression, he declared.

"Business is in danger of breaking and national prosperity is threatened by extortionate taxation," he said.

In answer to questions following his address, Gary said he was opposed to the League of Nations, although once one of its supporters. He declined to state his views on the world court "because it was still a burning question among President Coolidge, Secretary Hughes and other American statesmen."

MEN WHO SHOT BANK MESSENGERS ARE JAILED

Younger Diamond Is Claimed To Be One of Two Gun Men.

New York, Dec. 1.—The active slayers of William S. Barlow and William H. McLaughlin, Brooklyn bank messengers who were robbed of $43,000 and shot to death, November 14, are in jail, authorities asserted today.

The killers are among the men taken into custody this week and are not gunmen still at large as claimed by Barlow. Diamond, the alleged master mind of the plot, according to the authorities.

"The identification of Joseph Diamond, Barlow's young brother, as one of the assassins still stands as far as we are concerned," police said today.

They did not name the other suspect among the several prisoners.

Efforts to make the Diamonds to throw the blame of the murders on hired gunmen, now sought by police, are really not credited. It was learned. The search for three underworld characters named by "Barlow" Diamond still goes on through the United States and Canada, but police here they were only participants and not leaders in the hold-up.

TWENTY TWO PLEADED GUILTY

At County Court Term While Two Cases Were Dismissed and Only One Was Tried—Jurors' Work Was Brief.

The September term of county court, which came to an end Friday, was one of the most unusual terms of court held in this county. In all, twenty-two criminal cases were disposed of and but one trial was held.

Dismissals were asked in two cases by District Attorney Traver and in the other twenty-two cases pleas of guilty were received. The only case which was tried was that of Philip Sassa, indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murder, second degree, for the killing of Jesse Christians, a guard at the Napanoch Institution for Mental Delinquents. The murder took place during the uprising in the institution when a number of the inmates attempted to make a get-away during mess. Sassa was convicted of the crime charged in the indictment and is now serving time at the Clinton State Prison at Dannemora.

Although there was but one trial, twenty-two pleas of guilty were accepted. Twelve of these cases were for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated and in these cases fines of $100 and three months in jail were imposed by Judge Fowler, the jail sentence being suspended.

Two cases were for violation of section 1897 of the penal law, that of carrying a gun. Two cases were for larceny, one was for manslaughter and two were second degree murder.

The presence of the jury was required during the entire trial of criminal work but three days and for the entire term but four of five days. Practically all of the cases which were on the criminal calendar were disposed of by District Attorney Traver and Assistant District Attorney Murray. A couple of cases on the calendar were put over the term.

The conference is under the auspices of the National Industrial Conference board which has recommended that the whole immigration policy be based on "humanitarian grounds."

SCHELL TRACT TO BE SUMMER CAMP

Mount Tremper Estate Bought For Health Resort For Catholic Children of New York.

The Catholic Diocese of New York, through the Rev. Joseph B. Scully of St. Mary's Church, this city, has purchased the magnificent mountain estate of the late Richard D. Schell, through his daughter, Adelaide Schell Sutorius, executrix of her father's estate. The estate is to be used as a health camp for Catholic children. The property which is located at Mount Tremper just west of the Howland house, is well-known to Kingston people and has been the envy of many Catskill mountain tourists because of its delightful location. Father Scully realizing the possibilities of the property by reason of the pure mountain air and abundance of spring water as an ideal spot where sick and disabled youngsters in the Catholic parishes might enjoy recreation under healthful conditions, finally arranged to secure the property. While the exact purchase price could not be ascertained it is said to exceed $100,000. The estate consists of 225 acres of meadow land with high plateaus, a very large pine forest, an excellent fruit orchard and a number of springs of fine water.

Mr. Schell who during summers made his home for some time at Mount Tremper and later in Kingston will be remembered for his good fellowship and benevolence. His daughter, Adelaide Schell Sutorius, who resides with relatives in New York city, and who has been a frequent visitor here, expects to leave in the near future for California to make her home with her brother, Henry Elmer Schell, superintendent of the insurance department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, with headquarters at Los Angeles.

GRANGE LEADING BALL RUNNER

Illinois Player Held Up as Sure All-American Timber and Perhaps Best Back of This Season.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 1.—In keeping with the raps and rhapsodies passed around with gratuitous impartiality at this season of the year, there seems to be a common impression west of the Alleghenies that there was only one ball-runner of the late campaign, namely Harold "Red" Grange, of Illinois. The east had its Penn of Cornell, its Wilson of Penn State; the far west, its Noble of Nebraska, but according to available advice, Grange was the ranking offensive back of the season and more. He was and is one of the great runners of the modern generation, a man to be mentioned with Mahan, Coy, Gipp, Killinger, Charlie Barrett, and other immortals.

If Walter Camp should be so ill-advised as to ignore Grange in his selection of his first All-American team, the middle-west, in toto, will lash itself into a lather.

It has not been our privilege to see Harold in action but we learned to read at an early age and the name of Grange ran through the accounts of all Illinois games like the thread of an oblique. Added to this is a communique received from a middle-western authority, who has seen all the great ones step for the last fifteen years. Killinger, Gipp, Coy, Thorpe, Mahan, Chick Harley, etc. This man declares without reservation that Grange is the greatest runner he ever has seen on the football field.

Grange, according to our informant, happens to be that rare specimen of prehistoric biped—the football player without a weakness. The young man, it seems, gains with equal facility around the ends and through the line, on fair fields and foul, is adept on both the throwing and receiving ends of forward passes, particularly the latter, and is well above the average on defense. Being human, there must be something the matter with him, of course. Perhaps he wears frayed cuffs.

"Grange is positively the greatest runner with the ball I ever saw," declares the man who viewed many of the great ones at their best. "He played in eight of Illinois nine games and he won every one of them by his running with the ball. He scored at least one touchdown on every team he faced, three against Nebraska, the team that stopped Miller and Company of Notre Dame. He is a great follower of interference, dodges, swerves, shifts, 'ears,' changes paces and keeps his feet. I saw him shake off five Wisconsin tacklers and make 28 yards through the line. "Please keep in mind that after Grange left the Wisconsin game, Illinois did not make a first down. But, while he was in, he carried the ball on practically successive plays from his own 20 yard line down the field for a touchdown. He turned in two 26-yard runs around each flank during the march.

"He forward passes well when asked to do so and receives passes with clutch that never misses. He grabbed a pass out of a Northwestern man's hands and ran 77 yards for a touchdown on a field that was muddy in spots and dry in others, and very treacherous. Nobody in the Big Ten was able to stop him at all. "The point I would make is that I have seen Grange in all sorts of weather and turf conditions and never yet has he failed to tear off long runs. He is good defensively. If there is anything I have forgotten, it isn't worth mentioning."

Leo Granoff

Leo Granoff, 11 year old New York city boy and referred to as the "Boy Trotsky," has been paroled to appear later in children's court. He was picked up by a policeman, with his pockets stuffed with anarchist literature. When questioned, the boy admitted he was a Communist and that he had a large class of Communists among his 10 and 12 year old companions. "Freedom is only for rich," he declared. The National Security League joined hands with the police to put down the "conspiracy" of the children Communists to "overthrow the government." Sound spanking by mothers and fathers saved America.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. Morris Christal of Port Ewen, a daughter Helen at the Kingston City Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bonds Pearson, 202 Greenkill Avenue, a daughter, Little Fordie Pearson at the Kingston City Hospital.

WHAT OF ARTICLE I?

The federal courts having red-considered the Fourth and Fifth Amendments to the United States Constitution and declared that they have not been repealed by the Eighteenth Amendment, perhaps they will red-consider the First Amendment, which reads as follows:

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people to peaceably assemble; and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

The Fourth and Fifth Amendments are that portion of the Bill of Rights that provide for trial by jury, forbid a person being twice put in jeopardy and assert the right of security in persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable search and seizure. The Volstead Law was made to conform to the Fourth and Fifth Amendments, with the result that though the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes is forbidden to all persons by the Eighteenth Amendment, liquor may be manufactured in the home without fear of prosecution or punishment. Of the effect of this more will be said later.

Prohibition, taking it from the arguments and statements of its advocates, is a matter of religion of a peculiarly intolerant brand, preached by bigoted tyrants who blatantly assume that they are carrying out the will of their God. In the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Law fanatical, thoughtless or cowardly legislators have placed on the statute books the recently manufactured creed of certain religious sects thereby bringing about an "establishment of religion" in direct violation of the spirit and the letter of the very first declaration of the Bill of Rights.

The same noisy band of tyrants is seeking other fields to conquer, other restrictions derived from their twisted theology to impose on the people in the name of religion and put into effect by enactment into civil law.

SOME TAXATION FACTS.

One of the supposed leaders of the Democrats in Congress says he is in favor of that part of the Mellon tax reduction proposal which contemplates a reduction of the tax on the lower incomes but he is opposed to the reduction of the rates on the large incomes as those taxes are paid by the persons best able to pay. Thus he displays his utter ignorance of the ultimate effects of taxation.

There are hundreds of thousands of people all over the United States who are living in rented houses or apartments. Their landlords pay high taxes. Ask those tenants who, in their opinion, really pays the tax? The landlords pay it in the first instance and then the landlords collect the amount from the tenants. Farmers all over the United States buy farm machinery from manufacturing concerns whose stockholders pay large income taxes to the Government. Ask anyone of those hundreds of thousands of farmers who, in his opinion, really pays the tax? The owners of the factory pay it in the first instance, but it is figured in the cost of production and is added to the price of the machinery, and the farmer pays it. The same thing holds true of almost every commodity and every service. It must be true. Men cannot pay taxes that run into the millions unless they collect that tax from somebody and that somebody must eventually be the ultimate consumer.

Henry Ford is one of the largest taxpayers in the United States. Do you suppose for a minute that Ford really pays the tax? He does not. He figures the tax as one of the costs of production and adds it to the price of his car and spare parts, and the buyer of the car pays the tax. The Ford Company has in its treasury the largest amount of cash held by any industrial concern in the world. Ford is the richest man in the world. That cannot mean anything else than that after paying his taxes, and collecting those taxes from the people who deal with him, Ford has left a margin of profit so large that he has been able to surpass the Rockefeller, the Rothschilds and the Morgans in his wealth. Don't let anyone fool you into the belief that you can escape your share of tax by legislating it on to the back of someone else.

Grover Bergdoll is trying to compromise with the government on his punishment if he returns to the United States. Needless to say, his terms of surrender have been indignantly rejected by the administration. There will be an insistence on a free exercise of Federal power if the draft dodger is ever captured and returned to American jurisdiction. It appears that he does not relish his life in Germany. Probably his banishment from the United States is as adequate a punishment as a term of imprisonment in this country.

That Body of Yours

DOES COLD WEATHER CAUSE ILLNESS?

If you were to ask the health officer of your town or city whether there was more illness in the winter than in the summer, he would quickly tell you that in the winter illness was more frequent. But he would likely qualify that by telling you that it was not the cold weather itself that caused the increase, but the frequent changes in the winter weather, and the habits of life of the people themselves. As a matter of fact during a steady spell of cold weather in mid winter there is less illness than at the beginning or ending of the winter.

And further, those who work outdoors, or are outdoors most of the day suffer less from illness and winter colds than do those who are indoors most of the day.

And why? Oh, just the same old reason. In the summer you live the outdoor life, you are in the fresh air and sunshine most of the day. The heat makes you perspire and waste matter is thrown off in this manner.

Also the very brightness of the summer weather invites you outdoors, and so you walk, row, swim, and no matter how old you are, you get out and about to some extent. This means that your appetite, digestion, intestinal movements, heart, lungs, glandular system, in fact every part of that body of yours will be in constant activity.

Activity is life. Inactivity is practically the opposite. And so in winter time people will huddle themselves in the homes, offices, schools and factories, with ventilation absolutely forgotten in the effort to keep out the cold.

It's only natural, of course. There is no use disputing the fact that wet, cold weather lessens your powers of resistance, and that the very changeableness of the winter weather also has a depressing effect upon the body.

However, all health officers are agreed that the greatest factor in the starting and spreading of colds and other illnesses is the habit people have of crawling into winter quarters like the bear.

That's all right for the bear, that's the way he's built. But for you, there must be activity of some kind so that all the cells of the body will be kept at full strength. Thus you will not only keep up to par in your general health, but you will be a less frequent victim of the various illnesses that come along.

THE PRICE WAR IN THE MILK INDUSTRY

Sheffield Farms Suddenly Reduced Price Paid to Non-Poolers, Dairymen's League Came Back With Still Lower Price—Sheffield Now Paying 22 Cents Less Than League.

In announcing the recent unexpected drop in the price of fluid milk throughout the New York city milk zone the board of directors of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc. placed the blame directly on the various groups of unorganized dairymen and especially those who are under contract to sell to the Sheffield Farms Company. The action of the league's board of directors in voting the reduction, according to the statement issued by the association, was based entirely upon the principle that the league has a right to protect its markets, its producers and its customers in every legitimate way.

In a leading article in this week's issue the Dairymen's League News, the official publication of the association, refers to this action of the directors as follows:

"During the past two weeks much insidious propaganda has been circulated to the effect that the league is engaged in a price cutting campaign because of the reduction in price on November 12 of Class 1 milk. The facts are simple and easily understood. When the board of directors of this association met on October 21 and voted to offer November Class 1 milk at $3.45 per one hundred pounds of three per cent milk, it did so in an effort to keep the price of fluid milk somewhere near what it should be at this time of the year. Moreover, this price was fairly justified by the cost of production as well as by the ability and willingness of the city consumer to pay it. To the utter surprise of the league the Sheffield Farms Company demanded, or the Sheffield farmers voluntarily made a price of $3.05 per one hundred pounds, a price out of forty cents per one hundred pounds.

"Any one who knows the mere rudiments of milk marketing knows that neither the league or the buyers from the league could sustain a $3.45 price with substantial quantities of milk coming into the market at forty cents less per one hundred pounds. This drastic cut of forty cents made by the Sheffield Farms Company was intended by them and was understood by the league to be the opening gun in a price war.

"The league directors were immediately called into session and reduced the price sixty-five cents per hundred pounds. The beneficial effects of this became at once apparent. But again the Sheffield Farms Company and their producers made another cut and their present price, November 23, 1923, is $2.55 per one hundred pounds or twenty-two cents under the present league price of $2.80. What the effect of this reduction will be cannot be determined until the Thanksgiving demand for milk over. Non-pool milk other than that of the Sheffield Farms producers is coming into the city at a somewhat lower price than that of the Sheffield Farms producers.

"When the League announced its reduction in price, the retail price of milk in the city was reduced one cent a quart. The Sheffield Farms Company promptly passed this reduction of one cent a quart or forty-seven cents per hundred pounds on to their farmers, and as a result, their farmers have now temporarily stopped cussing the League and are engaged in cussing the Sheffield Farms Company and in cussing their own leaders for being but a rubber stamp used by the Sheffield Farms Company. The Sheffield Farms producers as well as other non-poolers, interpret the action of the League as meaning that their long joy ride at the expense of the poolers is nearly ended."

As to whether future cuts in price of fluid milk may be expected, the league statement does not say. There is, however, plenty of evidence that the farmers who belong to the pooling association are united to a man on the stand which they determined to protect their markets at all costs. In fixing the responsibility for the low price they point to the lower fluid milk price consistently maintained by the Sheffield Farms Company and other non-poolers groups during the past year, all of which has had the effect of constantly bearing down the price which all producers, whether inside or outside the pooling organization, have received.

The pool farmers declare that they are satisfied that they have done everything within the range of human possibility to get as good a price for the milk of its members as market conditions have justified. The league regrets the necessity for being forced to take this step.

As the statement of the association declares, "it has been the one outstanding and dominant agency fighting for a square deal for all." In this effort the league farmers have spent thousands and thousands of dollars and have acquired vast facilities in order to not only get a better price for the farmers but more than that, to render a real service to its producers and to its consumers. In this effort it has had the cooperation of some of the milk dealers and for some time has had the active sympathy of the consuming public.

AGRICULTURE

Green manure crops are those grown for plowing under in the green state to enrich the soil.

Helping the boy to build his own nest is combining pleasure with profit for both yourself and the boy.

The most that a farmer gets out of a poorly arranged barn is plenty of exercise at a time when it's too costly.

Uncle Ab says that it is better to know how to do one thing when it's needed than to do a lot of things when they're not.

In one New York county, a survey showed the farmers who had a high school education made $394 a year more than those who had been only to district schools. Schooling does seem to pay.

"A study of the work to be done helps in doing it better and with less loss of time," is the way one farmer summed up the value of the correspondence course he had just finished from the state college of agriculture at Ithaca.

Great thoughts hallow any labor. Today I earned 75 cents heaving manure out of a pen, and made good bargain of it. If the ditcher leaves the while how he may live uprightly, the ditching spade and turt knife may be engraved on the coat-of-arms of his posterity.—Thoreau.

DETECTIVES TAKE FUGITIVE IN HOME OF HIS PARENTS.

Detectives from the West 123d street station, acting on information received Thursday, arrested Benjamin Landsman, 19 years old, of 1931 Seventh avenue, who, the police say, for nearly three months has succeeded in eluding the authorities as a fugitive from the institution for Delinquent Delinquents at Nanuet, N. Y., where he had been sentenced from Randall's Island, while serving a two years' sentence for his alleged participation in a silk robbery.

Word was received from Dr. Walter N. Thayer of the institution that Landsman was quietly living with his parents at the Seventh avenue address and was at present employed by his father, who is a baker.

When they arrived at his home they were told that he was at a moving picture theater and they waited for him to return.

At the time of the escape on September 1st, he had but a few months to serve before being released on parole.

Freight Car Loadings.

High loading of revenue freight for this time of year continues, according to reports made public today by the American Railway Association. The total for the week ended November 17 was 931,745 cars. This was an increase of 24,181 over the corresponding week last year and an increase of 201,382 over the corresponding week in 1921. Compared with the corresponding week in 1920, it was an increase of 102,607 cars.

OVER 600 ATTEND LA TOUR CONCERT

Kingston Musicians Render Beautiful Program of Sacred Music at Church of the Redeemer.

The recital of thanksgiving for the recovery of Herman LaTour, given at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer Friday evening, was both a great musical treat and a wonderful tribute to Mr. LaTour, showing that the people of Kingston do appreciate the hours of pleasure and inspiration that Mr. LaTour has given them with his beautiful singing, as well as they appreciate Mr. LaTour's sterling worth. And, really, Kingston music lovers were still in Mr. LaTour's debt Friday evening, for the privilege of listening to such an evening of sacred music as was afforded in the recital, for such programs are all too rare these days.

If it had not been for the heavy rain, it would have been utterly impossible to accommodate the people who bought tickets, in the auditorium of the Church of the Redeemer where the six hundred and more seats were practically all filled. Before the program, several numbers were played on the church chimes.

Following the organ prelude, by Smart, an imposing organ composition splendidly played by the organist of the church, Mr. Richens, the vested choir of the church together with the vocal soloists, (also vested) came into the church and chancel singing as a processional hymn, "Songs of Praise the Angels Sang," the Lutheran congregation joining in with their usual musical fervor.

Before going on with the program, the pastor, the Rev. William H. Nelson, reminded those present that at this season of national thanksgiving, far and wide over the land, it seemed peculiarly appropriate that the people of the city of Kingston should offer a special thanksgiving at such a service as that entered upon, through the medium of songs of praise to Almighty God for having vouchsafed such a divine blessing upon him who was upmost in the minds and hearts of all present. And it was truly a "service" of song, all of the participants in the program who were to the chancel, wearing vestments. Both Harry P. Dodge, organist of the St. James M. E. Church, and W. Whiting Frederburgh, organist of the First Reformed Church, as well as Samuel Scudder, presided at the organ at different times throughout the evening, accompanying different numbers.

There was no applause, but every number was listened to with that finer appreciation of silence.

Following the invocation by the pastor, Harry Clearwater bass, sang an "Offertory," by Laubin that showed the beautiful quality of his voice in a marked degree.

This was followed by a lovely, appealing duet "Come Unto Me," by Berwald sung by Miss Messinger contralto and Mr. Rittenbary, tenor. The Mendelssohn Club never sang better than they sang Handel's "I'm Art Thou," led by Mr. Dodge, with Mr. Scudder accompanist.

Mrs. Cubberly violinist, always seems especially inspired when playing with the pipe organ, and her two partners, "Viennese Melody," by Kreisler and "Andante" by Vieuxtemps were a delight to listen to.

One of the most beautiful and inspiring numbers of the evening was "Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah," by Lansing, sung by Mrs. Johnston and Mr. Clearwater.

Miss Messinger's rich contralto voice seems peculiarly fitted to a church service and she sang, "Save Me, O God," by Randegger splendidly.

A beautiful organ number, showing to best advantage the fine points of the organ was the "Meditation and Elegy" by Borowski, played with rich color effect by Organist Richens.

One uses the word "loveliest," advisedly in speaking of the solo, "Hear Me, O Lord," Bach-Gounod sung by Mrs. Johnston with organ accompaniment and violin obligato by Mrs. Cubberly, because there is that sympathetic quality in Mrs. Johnston's singing that is so lovely and this number taken altogether was one of the loveliest of the evening.

A splendid, stirring number was the "Festival Te Deum in E flat," by Dudley Buck, sung by a double quartette composed of Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Rich, sopranos; Miss Messinger and Miss Mayer, contraltos; Mr. Rittenbary and Mr. Elmendorf, tenors and Mr. Clearwater and Mr. Hall, basses, with Mr. Richens at the organ. This was the last number on the program and was so full of the spirit of praise and thanksgiving as to seem a fitting close of the wonderful evening of music. The Recessional hymn was "Praise the Lord" No. 890.

Reflection

You cannot obtain complete happiness—any life's greatest rewards—if you cannot be thankful, grateful, or devoted.

Thousands of women owe their names and happiness in life to the power of a complete change in their attitude. They are Place Talcum Powder users. They are not only beautiful, but they are also happy. It is proved by looking at the women who use Place Talcum Powder. It is a real beauty tonic.

For the Woman Who Cares

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

A man walked into a second-hand automobile store here. The boss was out. The clerk was in.

Said the customer: "I'd like to see a good used car."

Said the clerk: "So would I."

The Philanthropist. His fame is known throughout the land.

He helps his poorer brother. He gives a dollar with one hand, And grabs two with the other.

To the pure all things are pure, but not all things are simple to the simple.

A bride tells us that she doesn't mind kissing her husband's mustache because she kissed a brush to get tough.

Wonder where the old fellow is who used to jingle silver dollars in his pockets.

Our conception of a glibbie gink is a short saved-off fellow who will let a tailor talk him into buying a checkered suit.

The Goat. "Your advertisement describes this as all wool. It is nearly all cotton."

"Yes, that's the worst of the newspapers. You can hardly believe a word they say."

There are some folks we hate to see get religion because it makes them several degrees meaner.

Furs increase in price—headline in ad. No doubt it costs the animals more to live.

Correct. There are meters for light. There are meters for love. But the best way to meet her, is to meter her alone.

There are letters of accept. There are letters of tone. But the best way to let her is to letter alone.

A real lazy man doesn't reach the zenith of happiness until he has been arrested for vagrancy.

Park benches are contrivances invented for the purpose of letting new cops try out their bills.

"Life-terms inherit fortune. Isn't that nice? Now he can get a lawyer, an incurable disease and a pardon."

America's hens laid more than a billion dollars' worth of eggs last year. That is something to cackle about.

Take any 100 of the successful men in this country and you will find that at least 90 of them were raised in homes where the kitchen was used as a dining room.

The paragrapher who says there is no favorite place to have a boil is mistaken. Mark Twain settled that by stating the best place to have it was on one's hired man.

Very Likely.

Do kings ever have a vacation; or do their grouch subjects claim it is all that?

BRITISH HOPE WE'LL JOIN IN France Also Intimates Work of Proposed Committee On Reparations Will Be Valueless Without American Representation.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Dec. 1.—British officials expressed hope today that the United States will accept the invitation of the inter-allied reparations commission to join the two committees which will investigate Germany's capacity for reparations payments. In some quarters belief was expressed that the inquiry will prove unsuccessful unless the United States take part.

Sir John Bradbury, British representative on the reparations commission, (who is now in Paris) was quoted as saying that the presence of Americans upon the committee was essential for the work to be successful.

France has united with Great Britain in emphasizing the importance of American cooperation. According to Sir John Bradbury the aid of the United States in studying Germany's capacity for indemnity payments may result eventually in a new estimate inasmuch as this is the first real agreement among the members of the reparations commission for nearly a year.

The British welcomed the agreement with high hopes. The names of J. P. Morgan and Frank Vanderlip are prominently mentioned as possible representatives of the United States.

ACCORD.

Accord, Nov. 30.—The date of the play "Those Dreadful Twins" will be announced later. Chester Quick will appear in the part of the "sheriff" who some times "takes his straight." While the deacons are flipping a coin "against their religious scruples" to see which will marry "Becky" the "sheriff" beats them to it by proposing to "Becky." Custer Quick takes the part of "Rastus," a coon who is so efficient that he ejects his boss "Joshua" from his own home as a suspicious character and afterward poses as statue of "Minerva." Percy W. Gay will take the part of "Lynn" the detective.

The Misses Esther and Josephine Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge spent last week with their sister, Mrs. M. Anderson and relatives at Accord.

A Fact About Sleeplessness

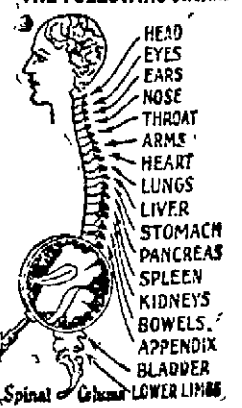

Weekly Health Talk
By Froude & Mac Kinnon, D's. C.

It is during sleep that the batteries of life are re-charged, and vitality is increased. But if sleep refuses to come, then vitality begins to ebb. The mind is beset with worries, and the body with pain and exhaustion. The nerves seem to come to the surface, raw and irritable, instead of being "encased in contentment." There is no method that restores nerve ease and strength, and more quickly and naturally conquers sleeplessness, than chiropractic spinal adjustments.

RID OF SLEEPLESSNESS.

"I am glad to testify that chiropractic cured me of sleeplessness, also of a trouble with my feet, which I was told was broken arches, but which the chiropractor found was caused by pressure of a spinal joint upon the sciatic nerve. I sleep soundly every night and have had no return of this trouble, though it is more than a year since my last adjustment."—Erma Walker, Chiropractic Research Bureau. Statement No. 1438B.

HOW CITIZENS MAY ENFORCE DRY LAW

Anyone May Secure Search and Seizure Warrant or Furnish Information on Which Injunction May Issue.

The full text of the abstract of the Prohibition Enforcement Law prepared by the counsel of the Anti-Saloon League and sent out to pastors by the Allied Citizens of America, showing what any citizen may do to secure enforcement of the federal law prohibiting intoxicating liquors, is as follows:

1. Criminal Prosecution.

Any person may present to a United States commissioner information which shows a violation of the National Prohibition Act. The commissioner may then issue a warrant which will be served by a federal officer and prosecution will be commenced in the federal courts. Such facts may be given to a United States district attorney who has the power to institute proceedings directly by filing an information with the court. This obviates the delay incident to the issuance of a warrant and to grand jury proceedings.

2. Search and Seizure.

Any person may go before a judge of a United States district court or a judge of a state court of record or a United States commissioner for the district wherein the property sought is located and show probable cause, supported by affidavit, that liquor or property designed for its manufacture is had or possessed in violation of the federal law. Such judge or commissioner may then issue a warrant for the search of the premises and seizure of the liquor and property designed for its manufacture. (See National Prohibition Act, Title II, Section 25 and Title XI of the Fortieth Statutes at Large.)

3. Complaint Against Permittee.

The new law allows certain transactions in intoxicating liquors for non-beverage purposes. Anyone carrying on these transactions must have a federal permit, e. g., druggists, physicians, manufacturers of patent medicines, expression.

If a complaint under oath is filed with the commissioner of Internal Revenue setting forth facts showing that any person who has a permit is not in good faith conforming to the provisions of the National Prohibition Act, the commissioner must immediately summons the permittee to a hearing on the revocation of his permit. (See National Prohibition Act, Title II, Section 9.)

4. Injunction.

The Attorney General of the United States or any United States attorney or any prosecuting attorney of any state or any subdivision thereof or the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or his deputies or assistants may bring an action to enjoin anyone who maintains a room, house, building, boat, vehicle, structure, or place where intoxicating liquor is manufactured, sold, given away, kept, or bartered, for beverage purposes, or against anyone who keeps or carries intoxicating liquor on his person or in any conveyance whatever with intent to effect its sale or against one who solicits orders for sale, shipment or delivery of liquor.

An individual can furnish the Attorney General of the United States or any United States attorney or any prosecuting attorney of any state or any subdivision thereof or the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or his deputies or assistants with the information upon which to base a petition asking for such an injunction. (See National Prohibition Act, Title II, Sections 21, 22 and 23.)

5. Punishment for Contempt of Court.

Where a person has been enjoined from violating the National Prohibition Act, proceedings for punishment for contempt may be commenced by filing any information under oath with the clerk of the court from which the injunction issued, setting out the alleged facts constituting the violation, whereupon a warrant for arrest will issue and the person enjoined will be tried for contempt of court. (See National Prohibition Act, Title II, Section 24.)

6. Prohibitive Tax.

Any person who illegally manufactures or sells intoxicating liquor shall have assessed against, and collected from him, taxes in double the amount heretofore provided by the law plus $500 on retailers and $1,000 on manufacturers. Any person who has information regarding such illegal manufacture or sale may make an affidavit setting forth the facts constituting the violation and forward the affidavit to the Federal Prohibition Director, Washington, D. C. (See National Prohibition Act, Title II, Section 35.)

7. Civil Rights.

Aside from the right of a citizen to institute criminal proceedings as outlined under 1 and 2 above, any person who is injured in person, property, means of support or otherwise by an intoxicated person, or as the result of the intoxication of any person, has the right to bring action for damages against any person who by selling or assisting in procuring the liquor may have caused or contributed to the intoxication. Such action may be brought in any court of competent jurisdiction. The right of action for means of support would give the right to an impoverished family to sue one who sold liquor to the husband and thus made it impossible for the head of a family to properly provide for his wife and children. The right of action for injury to the person gives the right to sue the one who furnished the liquor to an automobile driver for having caused his intoxication and any accident which directly resulted therefrom. (See National Prohibition Act, Title II, Section 20.)

8. Right of Property Owners.

If a person has reason to believe that his room, house, building, boat, vehicle, structure, or place is occupied or used for the illegal manufacture or sale of liquor and allows such illegal acts to continue, the building, etc., shall be subject to a and may be sold to pay fines and costs.

Any violation of the National Prohibition Act upon leased premises by the lessee or occupant thereof shall be the option of the lesser, work a forfeiture of the lease.

Hence a property owner as a matter of self-protection may evict from his premises violators of the prohibition law. (See National Prohibition Act, Title II, Sections 21 and 23.)

9. Action Through State Officers.

Any judge of the state having the power to issue warrants for arrest may issue such warrants for any violation of the National Prohibition Act. (Revised Statutes of the United States, Sec. 1014.)

Note: (a) The Eighteenth Amendment prohibits the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof, for beverage purposes. (See Eighteenth Amendment U. S. Constitution and National Prohibition Act, Title II, Sec. 3.)

(b) The word liquor includes alcohol, brandy, whiskey, rum, gin, beer, ale, port and wine, and in addition thereto any spirituous, vinous, malt, or fermented liquors, liquids and compounds, whether medicated, proprietary, patented or not, and by whatever name called, containing one-half of one percentum of more of alcohol by volume which are fit for use for beverage purposes. (See National Prohibition Act, Sec. 1.)

Flying Speed of Birds.

The crow is the least rapid of a list of 22 migratory birds, flying an insignificant average of 45 feet a second, or 10 miles an hour. Curlews and jacksnipes can fly 55 and 65 feet a second, while quails, prairie chickens and ruffed grouse can make 75 feet. The dove can reach a speed of 100 feet a second, or 68 miles an hour, although its usual rate is less. Redheads, blue-winged teal, green-winged teal, Canada geese and different varieties of brant can fly 100 feet a second, ranging in speed from 68 to 98 miles an hour, but usually fly at a much slower gait.

Geraldine Farrar

Barred from appearing in either the Wesley Memorial Church or the immense Baptist Tabernacle in Atlanta, Ga., for a concert because of her role in "Zaza" in the Southern metropolis a few years before, Geraldine Farrar defied the churches. "I'll sing there if I have to sing at Five Points," she said, referring to a square in the very heart of the city. However, the high school students, who were to give a minstrel in Atlanta's Auditorium, surrendered their rights, and the diva was permitted to sing indoors.

SAGACITY OF BLACK BEAR

Guide Called "John Bull" Tells Stories of the Animal's Marvelous Cunning.

One of the guides for the Red river expedition of 1922, called "John Bull," was a famous bear hunter and regaled the officers with many stories. (One of the officers in his journal says that the guide's statements were repeated to him by several Indians, in whose veracity he had much confidence. He adds: "I have no doubt they are strictly true.")

The guide said the black bear had greater sagacity than almost any other quadruped, says Faunce Rochester. Before making a bed the bear always goes several hundred yards with the wind, the officers were told, "at a distance from his tracks." Any enemy approaching along his track must come with the wind and be detected by the animal's keen nose.

When a black bear hides in a cave in earth or rock and a hunter tries to smoke him out the bear will not rush forth to be shot, but, masked from view by the smoke, will come as far as the smoldering fire, put it out with his forepaws and then return to his hiding place.

John, it must be admitted, rather weakened his case when he described the behavior of the bear in being pursued by a hunter into a cave.

The hunter, in addition to his rifle, of course carried a torch. Instead of being a "very dangerous adventure" for the hunter, John insisted the bear, on beholding the light, would sit up and hold his paws over his face and eyes and remain motionless so long as the torch burned. Without risk, the hunter approached close and slaughtered the foolish fellow.

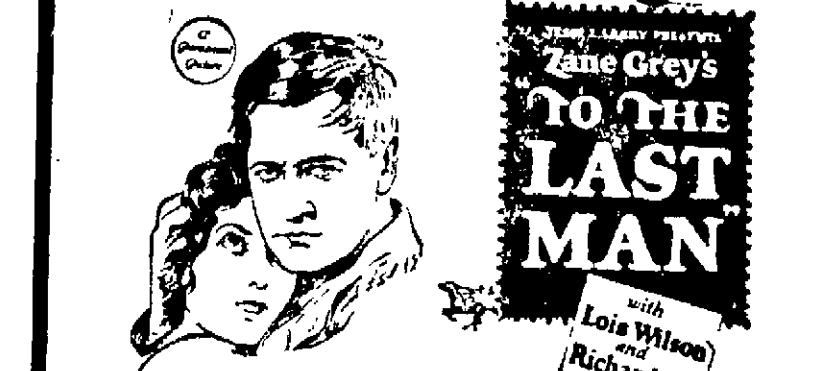

Why a hunter should bother to "smoke" out the bear when he can so conveniently crawl into the hole and kill him without risk John is not recorded as saying.—Adventure Magazine.

AT THE MAISON HOGRELLE

Restaurant and Grocery Near Camp Coetquidan in Brittany Was Transformed by Doughboys.

Near Camp Coetquidan in Brittany was the town of Guer. On the outskirts of the town was a combination restaurant and grocery store kept by the widow Hogrelle. When the first Americans arrived in the camp it was possible to get a supper of broiled chicken, with all the fixings, done in the real French style over an open fire of brush, for 5 francs (about $1. American). Two young girls, Vivienne and Germaine, assisted in serving the patrons, says Leonard H. Nelson. Vivienne was inclined to be a little flashy, and Germaine had no teeth, but otherwise they were very winsome.

Above are shown John Browning, son of the millionaire inventor of the Colt automatic pistol, the Browning automatic rifle and the Browning light and heavy machine guns used by the United States Army in the World War; his sister, Mrs. Benjamin F. Ballantyne, and their cousin, Marjorie A. Browning, all of Salt Lake City, Utah. The Browns are on trial for the killing, last spring, of Mrs. Ballantyne's husband, whom they shot to death, they say, when he drew a pistol during a family quarrel over Ballantyne's treatment of his wife. Mrs. Ballantyne is aiding the defense.

Ice and Water.

When two molecules of water combine to make one molecule of ice, half of their free electrons enter into the new molecule to hold it together. Their grip is not strong, which accounts for the ease with which ice melts. The other half of the electrons remain in the external field, and give ice the power to combine directly with a few strong chemicals.

Boys Ready Rejoinder.

Lessons in school had been proceeding for about an hour when a boy took an apple from his pocket and began to eat it. The teacher saw him. "Go out into the schoolyard and finish your meal," he said sarcastically. To his surprise the boy quietly rose and moved to the door. Then he turned. "Please, sir," he said, "can me little brother come too, 'cos half of it is his?"

One Jury's Verdict.

The following is reported to be the verdict by a certain jury in a suit against a railroad company: "If the train had run as it should have run; if the bell had rung as it should have rung; if the whistle had blown as it should have blown, both of which it did not—then the cow would not have been injured when she was killed."
